Facing eviction?

Know your rights! While eviction is a complicated process, your landlord can't force you or your pets out of your home without giving you a chance to tell your side of the story.

Know your rights

Housing costs are surging across the country, leaving renters vulnerable to eviction. If you're facing eviction, learn about your rights as a tenant. Find free or discounted legal help at findlegalhelp.org and nlada.org/node/24451.

Service and assistance animals are protected under the American With Disabilities Act and Fair Housing Act, even if your lease doesn't specifically allow pets. Learn more at humaneworld.org/fair-housing.

Know your resources

- Find a list of organizations working to prevent evictions and reduce family homelessness in your state at justshelter.org/community-resources.
- Reach out to friends, family and social networks for housing help. Check with your local shelter, crisis housing agency and bestybnb.com about temporary pet foster care programs, assistance with pet boarding fees and other housing support.
- Learn about housing insecurity and how to support tenant protections at nlihc.org.
